

Updated Covid 19

- Guidance -

September 2021

Hands, face and space is no longer the recommended advice with the removal of face coverings and bubbled groups. However, frequent hand hygiene is still required in line with the COVID-19 risk assessments.

Please remind your students to frequently wash their hands after activities and before eating.

Face coverings are no longer required in any areas of the school. However, we will continue to operate in a "Mask Friendly" way. Please feel free to use a face covering should you feel you would like to.

Classroom tables can now be organised into groups. This will enable more effective collaborative learning to take place.

Good ventilation is still a key protective measure. Please open windows and doors for 15-minute blocks frequently throughout the day.

Any visitors supporting students EHCP outcomes will be invited into school, with visitors wearing PPE if chosen. The number of visitors will continue to be monitored.

Year group bubbles are no longer necessary, however, this will be closely monitored to not increase staff and student anxiety

We will continue to explore work experience externally with appropriate measures in place.

Maintaining good respiratory and surface hygiene in your classrooms and offices is still the best way to prevent Covid-19 from spreading.

Please reintroduce the 'Catch it, Bin it, Kill it' content to your classes to promote this.

This will also prevent the spread of stomach bugs and illness in school.
